LIVE CATTLE

Expiration Date: 28/02/2019

Notice Date: 04/02/2019

Multiplier: 400

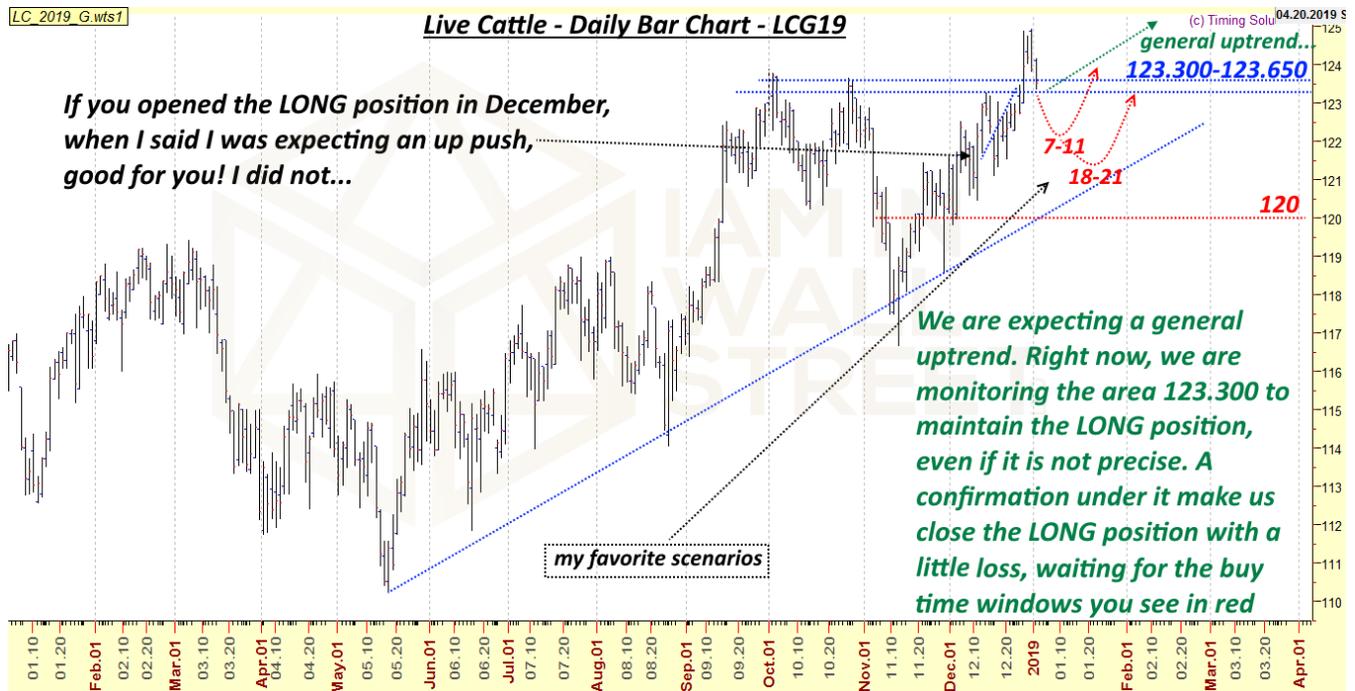

This is the first update for the 2019 Live Cattle Bulletin. In the 2019 Bulletin, we said:

The PFS suggests an up push until April. I confirm the change in trend of April, which should be a High. In January-February, it is possible we do not see immediately Live Cattle pushing higher; in this case, if we see lower levels in February, or even in March, this movement should be a strong buy opportunity. In any case, we should see an up push until April then, and from that High, Live Cattle should push lower, as the PFS suggests.

- How do we handle this doubt? In January, we wait for a breakout above an important level, if it happens, we follow the uptrend above it, until April; if Live Cattle remains under the important level, we wait for February/March to open LONG positions at lower levels. The important levels will be provided through the Updates.*

2019 LIVE CATTLE FORECAST & STRATEGY STUDY

We have to look at the chart of Live Cattle and see how we can follow our strategy:

It is evident that Live Cattle is now testing the resistance of October 2018, becoming now a support. If we see a movement under this area (123.300), we better close the LONG positions and wait for lower levels. Now, I have a stop-loss order at 122.875 with the actual strategy. If filled, I will probably wait for lower levels during the next days (stop-loss filled right when I am writing, I had a loss of less than 1 point per contract, something acceptable).

The short-term forecast is now suggesting an intermediate Low around January 7-11 (January 10-11 is my favorite). The next BUY will use a larger stop-loss under 120. If we see a continuation of the down push to January 18-21, it should be another possible buy opportunity for higher levels.

2019 LIVE CATTLE FORECAST & STRATEGY STUDY

We need to wait with patience. Live Cattle is not an easy Market, above all because of its usual choppy pattern. Even in our Daily Report Strategy, we changed the approach, trading with larger stop-loss orders instead of using intraday stops. Considering the last movement under 123.300, I would wait for next week before to plan the next buy, hoping to see lower levels where to open LONG positions. The stop should be placed under 120.000, which is, at the moment, the most reliable support. At this level, we should create a strategy where we are always LONG above it and FLAT under it. Alternatively, we can wait for a movement above area 123.300 again, and use this area as a Key Price, where we follow the uptrend above it but we remain FLAT under. Another very significant level should be 124.900.

Where does the level 123.300 come from?

I have a Planetary Line at 123.300. Not sure it can be reliable, even if I have to admit we are seeing a down acceleration once Live Cattle moved under it:

Definitely, this is a level we have to keep monitoring. If we open LONG positions at lower levels, we can use 123.300 as a possible take-profit area, where to close part of the position in gain.

Summing up, I have a few time windows where we should buy (if we see a Low), which are:

- January 7-11 (10-11 my favorite) and January 18-21

And we have several levels to monitor:

- 117.25; 120.000; 123.300; 124.900

I am sorry if the Bulletin seems a bit confusing, but I studied Live Cattle while I was writing the Update, a kind of live study. I had to look for a possible new scenario after we saw the breakout under 123.300, taking in consideration new cycles.

If you have any question, please let me know.

The down acceleration under 123.300 goes on... now at 122.500.

Good Trading!

Best Regards,
