I hope you appreciated, and you took advantage of the great call that foresaw the up push of grains from mid-May; exactly what I did forecast!

This is the Chart I showed you on April 26, for Corn:

And this is the one for Soybeans.

It is evident how we nailed perfectly the movement of grains, with the possibility to make huge profits, thanks to a very strong uptrend (above all in Corn):

And Soybeans chart:

These charts are from the Weekly Reports.

With this Quick Update, I just want to tell you that I have closed all the LONG positions and I am now FLAT. If the High is already in, it would be a bit too early compared to my studies, but I am not the one who decides ☺. We do not lead the Market; the Market leads us! Hence, I wait for a new little up push, and then I will try to open SHORT positions, mainly using 900 with Soybeans, or the level 400 with Corn (or 440, in case Corn gest close to it during the next days). In this way, we keep following the main natural cycle. If everything works as expected, we should see the beginning of the descent from next week, after a new up push.

See you at the next Update.

Good Trading!

Best Regards,
Daniele Prandelli
